"Growing hemp as nature designed it is vital to our urgent need to reduce greenhouse gases and ensure the survival of our planet."

"As with most consensual crimes, this prohibition of hemp is both silly and sinister."

- Peter McWilliams -

'Time 4 Hemp' made its debut Jan 5th 1991. Over the years the series has blossomed into a Global Broadcasting Network featuring amazing activists, radio hosts, writers, producers and litigation experts who have come together in one voice denouncing marijuana prohibition.

Advertising with this team has tremendous benefits! There has never been a more important time to invest in the Cannabis Movement than today, with Time 4 Hemp. This network has the power, through mainstream broadcasting on iHeartRadio, along with the HIGH QUALITY production with the all-star lineup, to reach over 10.5 million registered iHeartRadio users.

If you are looking for an explosive opportunity to talk to your key audience - then become a sponsor on the network. We will create the perfect package that offers the most traction for your campaign.

Phuck PhaceBook and Utube!

A few things have occurred over the past few months that pertain to the video releases through this network. First and foremost is the censorship being enforced through FaceBook, YouTube and Google. YouTube (which is owned by Google) and the Google Search Bar attempt to hide all things that are PRO-CANNABIS. FaceBook just hates it when someone attempts to get a message out to more than 10 people or place the same post in 8 groups or more.

Many activists who have been demonetized on YouTube have begun to post their videos on Bitchute.com where we now have an account. If you get a few minutes, please visit: <https://www.bitchute.com/channel/time4hemp/> and share it.

I've had a Time 4 Hemp YouTube Channel since 1998 and have over 3,000 videos posted on it with the word 'HEMP' in the title and in the description – yet, Time 4 Hemp is not found in a YouTube search when using the word 'HEMP' as a search term. Since the focus of the programing is how wonderful cannabis is, YouTube prohibits any type of advertising on any of the videos I post AND I am required to list the channel as being for 'ADULTS ONLY'.

FaceBook is another social media platform that currently restricts the number of people you can reach each day through your e-mails and posts. It is damn near impossible to reach more than 200 people a day on FaceBook.

When I first began posting video on FaceBook I attempted to promote the videos to all my friends and in all the groups I am a member of. I quickly discovered that FaceBook freezes your account and bans you from placing new posts on its platform for a few days anytime you post in too many groups in one day or you post the same post to a handful of different profiles too quickly. In fact, to promote anything on FaceBook is nearly impossible anymore.

A great new software program hit the market a few weeks back. It allows me to add LIVE LINKS to my videos much like YouTube does. The BIG DIFFERENCE being – when YouTube places a live link into a video – it normally does NOT pertain to the video and when you click on it, the video stops; the live links I include with the video DOES PERTAIN to the video and when you click on it, it opens in a different window of your browser AND the video continues to play while you check out the contents of the newly opened window.

I am currently learning all the things I can do with this software program. When I first got it, I stopped everything I was doing and converted ALL the videos on the Time 4 Hemp Blog into interactive videos. All other videos found at the network will eventually be converted as well. So far, I've only learned how to include live links. I still need to learn all the other pops and whistles it can do.

One thing is certain – I've had my bellyful of YouTube and FaceBook. I will continue to use those platforms to promote the network – just not as heavily as I have in the past. I'll be posting short little videos on all the social networks associated with Time 4 Hemp that PROMOTE the interactive videos featured on our website. Instead of posting feature videos on YouTube, I will be posting short promo videos that point you to the interactive videos found at Time 4 Hemp.

Instead of trying post videos in 60 different groups and on 100 different personal profiles on FaceBook – I will be up-loading them into the Profile Page, Group Page, Fan Page and Business Page only and then tag about 40 people in each post. I don't have time any longer to play silly games with FaceBook. They don't want me to promote my posts on their social site – FINE – I have better things to do.

This does mean that it is more important than ever for our audience to share us with their friends. Word of mouth is the best advertising any company can have. I was surprised at the response I got when I recently joined Pinterest and InstaGram. I reached more people in one day on Pinterest than I've been able to reach on FaceBook in one week. I can also post the promo videos on both platforms and thus get the interactive videos in front of a larger audience.

I have discovered that it has been necessary to EXPLAIN to the viewer that my videos are now interactive and exactly what that means. Due to the newness of the software, many people are unaware that the links which pop-up during viewing ARE LIVE. To compensate for this, I explicitly point that out when posting video promos.

It's going to take me a little while to learn how to use this software to the fullest potential. As I do, I am certain the interactive experience will improve along the way for the viewer as well. I encourage you to visit the Time 4 Hemp Blog often and watch us grow!
